SAILORS OF THE ATLANTIC

Fleet Are Disgruntled. Chemical Industry Threatened—How the Germans Stand by Their Own.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, April 4.—Twelve thousand sailors of the Atlantic fleet in Hampton Roads, Va., are disgruntled over orders from the Navy Department calling off "shore liberty" privileges until after the April sea practice. The bluejackets had but little liberty since Christmas, except a few baseball games and other sports at Guantanamo.

Annual target practice of the Atlantic squadron will begin during the first week in April. The battleships will practice off the Virginia capes.

Contrasting trade sentiment in the United States and Germany, John F. Queeny, of St. Louis, a witness before the Senate Finance Committee, took a dig at the House Ways and Means Committee which drafted a tariff schedule threatening manufacturers claimed, great damage to the chemical industry in this country.

"The Ways and Means Committee," said Queeny, "has certainly shown very little loyalty to products of American manufacture."

How differently the Germans feel toward their own product is well illustrated in ten commandments given to every employee and posted in every German business house the world over.

These are the ten commandments:

1. In all expenses keep in mind the interests of your own compatriots.
2. Never forget when you buy a foreign article that your own country is thus made poorer.
3. Your money should profit no one but Germans.
4. Never profane German factories by using foreign machinery.
5. Never allow foreign estates to be served at your table.
6. Write on German paper, with a German pen and German ink, and German blotting paper.

NEWS NOTES FROM FOREIGN

Capitals of Europe—French Seek to Punish Duelists. The Krupps Busy Making Guns.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Paris, April 4.—The bill proposing fine and imprisonment for duelists and their seconds has passed the committee stage with honors and the chamber of deputies may make the bill a law soon.

Some months ago the Abbe Lemire, a priest-deputy, declared duels to be utterly useless and dangerous and introduced a bill at the chamber calling for jail sentences of from six days to three months for those who engage in them, as principals or seconds. And the editor of a newspaper which prints an article insinuating that any man has refused another to a duel, or has refused to respond to a challenge to one, will be similarly imprisoned or fined.

"I am very much in favor of the bill," declared Chairman Chanot of the committee, though he has fought six duels himself in his day. "The duel is no longer a question of honor," he continued. "It is a sport, an amusement, sometimes even a mere parade. And it will retain this character until the day when an accident will happen and some one will be killed. Then duellists eyes will be opened, but too late."

In several of the recent flood of duels, men who never had a sword in their hands were compelled, by the so called code of honor, to fight expert swordsmen. Newspapers have taken up the crusade pointing out that it is rather doubtful honor for an expert to force a tyro to duel with unfamiliar weapons.

The anti-dueling bill will come up in the chamber after the Easter holidays.

A Branch Factory.

Berlin, April 4.—The big Krupp Works of Essen, where Germany's cannon armor plate and war material are manufactured and of which a woman is the head, are reported to be considering establishing a large branch factory at Spandau, a suburb of Berlin. Negotiations are said to be under way between the authorities of Spandau and the Krupp corporation for suitable tract of land. At Spandau is one of the fortresses which guard the German capital and there also has been in a big tower since 1870, $30,000,000 of the indemnity paid France, which can only be used in Germany's next war.

Dancing School Raided.

Munich, Germany, April 4.—A flourishing school for the new art of nudging, termed "reform dancing," has been raided by the Munich police and Albert Heiber, who calls himself "Academic Director," is under arrest. Heiber established the "Reformed Dancing Academy" some time ago and advertised for talented young girls, agreeing to train them for the chorus, ballet and specialty dances. He is alleged to have represented that hereafter the Ballets in all the European Opera would have to dance without lights. He insisted upon a very careful examination of each applicant and when this was refused would frequently touch the vanity of the victim by saying "Well, you do not look to me as if you had nice enough figure, my how." The director, according to the police, taught while clad only in some bathing trunks.

Fallacies to Retire.

Paris, April 4.—President Fallieres, whose term of seven years expires in January, has made his plans for retirement completely and totally from public life.

The president owns a block of flats in the Boulevard St. Germain and will occupy one of his own flats, says "GH Blas." There will be only a parlor, study, a dining room and three bedrooms; he will have neither footman nor telephone; a cook and a house maid will be all Madame Fallieres will require. Neither a cat nor a dog will be kept and he has caused to be inserted in the leases to other renters who will live near his own renters who will live near his own.

PROBLEM OF MAGDALENA BAY

No Justification For Japan to Try to Get a Coaling Station There—To Have No Trouble With That Country.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, April 2.—Despite denials by both Japan and Mexico that the former has no intention of establishing a settlement on the shores of Magdalena bay, Senator Lodge's resolution calling on the president for all information on the subject has greatly interested diplomatic and legislative Washington. It is generally accepted that the resolution means that the senate intends that both of the nations shall realize that this country will never permit any such concession. Discussing the subject today most of the members of congress took the view that Japan cannot establish a naval base on this hemisphere. Representative Needham, of California, said: "There is absolutely no justification for any attempt of Japan to get a coaling station in North America. We have possessions in the Orient but we got them in time of war. If Japan tries to get a foothold over here in time of peace this government should look into it."

In the event of ultimate intervention in Mexico, it is possible that Japan might join with Mexico. I do not believe this is likely. But if the Japanese are really endeavoring to get Magdalena bay and are looking for an excuse to clash with the United States, we might find a big job on our hands if we attempted to straighten out the internal affairs of Mexico.

"The one amazing thing about our relations with the Japanese is their extreme cockiness. They have a number of laws and regulations which work a hardship on the foreigner in Japan, but no one ever resented these, but whenever we take any steps to check the flood of Asiatic immigration Japan thinks her honor is assailed and that we look upon her people as an inferior race."

"Personally, I am convinced that we are not going to have any trouble with Japan unless she starts it. However, the reports of her activity in Mexico are so alarming that the Lodge resolution is perfectly justified."

Representative Humphrey, Republican, Washington, declared he was in sympathy with the Lodge resolution and that it was "almost criminal" the way the Pacific coast was being neglected in the way of "national protection."

"The coast is on an absolutely helpless condition," he said. "We have no battleships, cruisers or submarines and many of our ports are unprotected. The United States is constantly inviting trouble from the far east by its failure to protect the Pacific coast. There are two factions of extremists—those who laugh at the idea of trouble with Japan and those who constantly predict war. If there is no reason for a war scare, however, the best way to quiet the people is for the state department to reveal the real facts concerning Japan's alleged activities in Mexico."

Mexico.

"I have heard that the Japanese are seeking a naval base in Mexico and also the story that they were massing veteran soldiers in Hawaii, but I can suite with assurance that such reports are absolutely without foundation," declared Chairman Sulzer of the house foreign affairs committee.

"Mexico and the United States could and would prevent such a foreign invasion."

The arrests were made at the request of the American state department, through Ambassador Reid and the men are held pending extradition.

In a few hours the pain was relieved and in three days the rheumatism was completely cured and I was at work." Sold by the humble pharmacy, opposite Pilgrim Inn.

pending extradition.

Attorneys for the defendants told the court that if the allegations were actually as alleged the only recourse the complainants have is a civil suit. The complainant is William Ottmann and officials of the United States Lithographing company of New York and Cincinnati. They allege that Motley and Miller sold them for $100,000 a new lithographing process which reduced by 75 per cent the time necessary for producing lithographs; turned out clearer and better work and materially reduced the cost of production. Ottmann alleges that when the accused displayed their method they "shifted the stones" on him, substituting prepared ones for blank.

Attorneys for the men allege that the reason the process failed to work out in operation as well as when the sample tests were made was because Ottmann and his associates attempted to run their plant with incompetent help. They also say that much more was demanded of the process than was ever promised for it.
